

HAL Systems

Your Partner for Optimal Inventory Management and Shipping

More Control, More Convenience, Less Cost

If you have a small or mid-sized business, you have a big need to maximize efficiency, productivity and customer satisfaction to succeed in today's competitive marketplace.

That's why more and more business managers turn to HAL Systems – to turn an ordinary business function like inventory management, asset tracking, or shipping into an extraordinary competitive advantage.

For more than 30 years, HAL Systems has been providing effective software solutions to small and mid-sized businesses – for much less cost than comparable software designed for larger enterprises.

SYSTEMS INC.

Consider the Advantages with HAL Systems for Your Business:

- HAL Systems is a privately owned company with low overhead, so we can offer you lower-cost solutions with all the capabilities of comparable systems from larger providers.
- HAL develops proprietary software solutions designed around best-practice processes and configured to provide measurable results.
- HAL solutions are fully featured and fully functional, providing all the capabilities associated with larger, well-known providers. In many cases, the HAL solution delivers capabilities not found in traditional systems.
- Limited-feature solutions at minimal cost are also available for standard applications.
- The majority of HAL personnel are software developers responsible for designing the company's proprietary solutions. This means we control the product directly for the benefit of our customers, so we are able to fully customize the product to meet your specific business needs and interface our solution with any third-party system.
- Training for easy-to-use HAL solutions and expert 24/7 HAL support services are provided by the same developers who designed your HAL software.

- HAL solutions offer you more control over your business resources with more convenience. HAL solutions are based on standard barcode technology and are designed to work on a variety of web-based devices.
- HAL Systems offers flexible purchase and implementation options, ranging from traditional software licensing to completely hosted solutions with monthly fee and minimum upfront costs.
